Desert Modernism

A palette pulled from adobe walls at dusk, from bougainvillea against pink stucco, from the deep coral of clay fired in a desert kiln. Color that carries the heat of the day into the cool of the evening.

The Desert Modernism work spans folk-rooted figures, southwestern still lifes, and stylized desert scenes, painted with the flat clarity of modernist folk painting and the warmth of a culture that lives outdoors. Forms stay simple, contours stay confident, the palette holds coral and terracotta against deep indigo and cactus green. A collection that reads as heritage and as design in the same breath.
