

An abstract painting with soft, blended strokes of green, blue, and white, creating a misty, landscape-like atmosphere. The colors are muted and layered, giving it a textured, painterly feel.

Chromatic Storm

STUDIO

Muted Green

A palette drawn from moss on weathered stone, from eucalyptus held too long in a dry room, from the pale celadon of porcelain that has seen a century of afternoons. Green with a quiet memory in it. The muted green work spans soft abstracts, restrained botanicals, and slow geometric studies, painted with the patience of observation rather than invention. Brushwork stays measured, the palette sits low, the light behaves as it does in rooms kept cool on purpose. A green that carries the long, unhurried life of the objects it recalls.
